Dear friends,

As I sit down to write to you, it is, to be honest, difficult to focus. It is the middle of a very hard week, roiled by the intense armed conflict between Israel and Hamas/ Islamic Jihad and the smaller-scale but perhaps even more disturbing conflict between Jews and Arabs in Israeli cities where peaceful coexistence has been the norm for years, if not decades, and I'm holding the grief of that. (God willing, once you read this, the worst of this conflict will have subsided.) It is also, closer to here, the end of a very hard year, when our own United States has moved through waves of pandemic—and all the limitations and losses it has brought us.

As we begin to venture back into more familiar patterns of movement and behavior, visiting with family and friends, eating out, reentering workspaces, I for one have felt a sense of distracted trepidation. Is this allowed? Is it real? Will something terrible happen if I do this? I am delighted, practically giddy with excitement, that we are beginning to cautiously meet in person again (as President Loren Goldstein outlined at our annual meeting). I cannot wait to see folks' faces and be in each others' physical presence, for prayer and study and celebration. I am excited—but I am not relaxed. I need to unlearn the anxiety of this past year in order to be fully present to the joy of regathering.

To help me with both feelings, I turn to the Jewish practice of hakarat hatov—recognizing the good. This is a Jewish practice of Mussar—cultivating particular middot, or character traits—which helps us to cultivate a posture of gratitude by noticing the good things that already exist around us. Often this practice cites Mishnah Pirkei Avot 4:1, in which Ben Zoma asks “Who is wise? The one who is happy with their situation.” Hakarat hatov encourages us to pay attention, to name these good things aloud and acknowledge them, even when they are in the context of not-so-good things. For example, I might notice the wonderful blooms on lilac bushes and stop and smell them, might say a blessing over seeing a beautiful thing. (Baruch atah Hashem, shekacha lo b'olamo.) I might notice that someone was kind to me in line at the grocery store. Or, if my hot water heater breaks, I might notice, and be grateful, that I am lucky enough to have a house with a hot water heater that usually works! There is nothing too big or too small to notice.

Make time once a day if you can to name something you are grateful for. See what practices of lovingkindness this sense of being loved can inspire you toward.

Hakarat hatov is the start but not the end of gratitude practice. The aim of hakarat hatov is to get us to the place of giving back/paying it forward. We move from hakarat hatov to hoda'ah (gratitude) to g'milut chasadim (acts of lovingkindness). If I feel that “kosi r'vaya,” my cup overflows, I may have the instinct to pass some of that overflow on to others so that they can feel good too. My sister, for instance, inevitably sends me home with some cutting or planting from her garden after a visit—and then thanks me for taking it!

CANTOR VERA'S MESSAGE

Gratitude works both ways: when I give, I feel a sense of abundance, an awareness that I have something to give. For this reason, I think, we find the instruction from Mar Zutra in the Talmud (Gittin 7b) that even the very poorest person is obligated to give tzedakah—to have that sense for themselves, that dignity, of a sufficiency to give, and of helping another meet their needs. When I give, I too feel well-provided for and cared for. “When we cultivate gratitude, we feel loved” (Rabbi Loren Berman, teaching at Valley Beit Midrash, 4/22/21).

Jewish tradition encourages us to start each morning with an affirmation of gratitude: modeh/ah/et ani l'fanecha, Melech chai v'kayyam, shehechezarta bi nishmati b'chemlah rabbah emunatecha. “I notice and am grateful before You, living and enduring Power, that You with grace returned my soul to me; Your faithfulness is great.”

So here are some good things that I notice and name today, which inspire me to both hope and to give more—more energy, more attention, more heart, more faithfulness: Israelis and Palestinians, Jews and Arabs, have demonstrated together in Israel for peace, in growing numbers. Here around us, more and more people are getting vaccinated. Grandparents are hugging grandkids; some are meeting them for the first time. We're seeing friends. We may be able to eat again at a favorite restaurant. And as we feel the sorrow of Rabbi Rachel leaving at the end of this month, we feel gratitude for the wonderful time and Torah she has shared with us.

You may be excited for the ways our world is reopening, or you may feel differently. You may be hopeful about the Holy Land, you may be hurting, or both. No matter where you are and what you are feeling this month, I encourage you to try out practices of hakarat hatov. Make time once a day if you can to name something you are grateful for. See what practices of lovingkindness this sense of being loved can inspire you toward.

L'shalom,
Cantor Vera

Fall Classes from Cantor Vera

Cantor Vera is gauging interest for two new classes for the coming year:

- Adult b'nei mitzvah, which will start after Simchat Torah and meet roughly every other week through the end of Spring 2022

For adult Jews of Temple Emanu-El who have not yet celebrated becoming b'nei mitzvah. As a class we'll explore the history and traditions of b'nei mitzvah ceremonies, study Torah and Haftarah trope as well as some of the prayers of Shabbat morning, and prepare together for an adult b'nei mitzvah celebration. Each person in our community belongs on our bimah; come prepare together to claim your space! This course is for members of Temple Emanu-El.

- Liturgy of Shabbat morning, which will start after Simchat Torah

This nine-week course will dive into key moments in the Saturday morning service. We'll learn about the prayers, explore their language, and learn how to chant and sing them. Topics will include Emanu-El Emanu-El, Baruch She'amar, Psalm 150, Nishmat Kol Chai, Bar'chu through the Sh'ma, the beginning of the Amidah, the start of the Torah service, Aleinu, and Adon Olam. This course is open to the wider community.

Please email Cantor Vera if you are interested in participating in one or both of these courses!

Antiracism Committee

The recently formed Antiracism Committee works in partnership with our clergy, the Adult Education Committee, and HaSifriyah, as well as local interfaith partners, to schedule classes and discussion groups on topics related to antiracism and to develop opportunities for advocacy and support for our Greater Merrimack Valley communities of color. If you're interested in joining in this important work, contact chair Karen Godek at kgodek@verizon.net.

RABBI RACHEL'S MESSAGE

Shalom chevraya,

This, sadly, is my last bulletin article. It's hard to believe that it's been nearly a full year since I started last summer—and what a year it's been.

A few weeks ago my younger daughter had an allergic reaction and became violently ill while we were driving on Storrow Drive; it was quite traumatic for both of us. This morning she said to me, "Mom, I just realized that really happened. For the first couple of weeks afterwards, I thought it was just a dream."

I share this with you because this period of COVID time feels a bit dreamlike to me. It's been so extraordinary (as in NOT ordinary) that I find it difficult to fit it neatly into the narrative of my life. And my entire time with you all has been in the context of COVID. When I look back, will my time here have that same surreal quality? I don't think so, because of the depth of the relationships I have made. It's hard to believe, but it is possible to get to know people quite well over Zoom. Whether at services, classes, or meetings, we have shared who we are with each other in an authentic way despite the strangeness of the medium. I am confident that those relationships will continue to deepen despite my no longer working at Temple Emanu-El. The reality of knowing you will serve as a concrete reminder that this all actually happened!

That being said, I do kind of relate to Moses' grief at the end of his journey. He brought his people to the holy land but didn't enter it himself. We're at a point in the pandemic when we have a view of the other side. We're on the precipice of returning to the Temple building and resuming in-person services. It won't be exactly as before—nothing will—but it will certainly be closer to normal than anything we have experienced together over the past year. And I won't be there to share that with you, which is sad. But it is comforting to know that with Cantor Vera's and the board's expert leadership, you will soon be safely enjoying each other's company.

In the meantime, thanks so much for being my first community out of rabbinical school. I couldn't have asked for a kinder, more caring place to land. As I frequently say, every single person at this temple is so warm and openhearted. I feel honored to have been your rabbi for this year. Please stay in touch, and enjoy the building and each other!

B'vracha,
Rabbi Rachel

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Annual Meeting Highlights

- During the past year, we have increased and diversified our programming, which allowed us to continue to provide services through the pandemic.
- In June, we will begin to offer outdoor Havdalah services and will have two b'nei mitzvah services in the building. All in-person events will follow the recommendations developed by the executive committee with the assistance of Phil Platcow, which include time limits and social distancing. We hope that these events will lead to additional in-house offerings.
- We will also keep the Zoom option available for those unavailable to attend in person.
- We are working toward obtaining official 501(c)(3) recognition, which will allow us to apply for state grants, make us more attractive to large donors, and provide discounts on services we need.
- We have obtained estimates to replace the building's roof and hope to have that work completed over the summer.
- The Haverhill Public Schools have expressed interest in renting space in the building, and we are currently in negotiations.
- We hope to hire a rabbinic intern to work with Cantor Vera and the religious school for the coming year.

Thank you to Rabbi Rachel for your teaching and leadership over the past year. Thanks to the committee members and religious school faculty for all your hard work. And finally, thanks to David Belsky, who's stepping down from the executive committee after many years of service.

REOPENING INFORMATION

A Message About Our Reopening Plans

Dear chevre,

At our annual meeting on Sunday, May 23, Temple President Loren Goldstein shared the exciting news about our temple's first steps back to in-person gatherings in the month of June. These guidelines have been developed by the executive committee and clergy, in consultation with Phil Platcow, who has blessed us with his expertise as a workplace safety consultant. We are starting small and, if all goes well, hope to offer more in-person opportunities as the summer continues.

We are hugely excited to start seeing you in person again—and we know that comfort levels vary, member to member, as to what you feel safe doing. We are committed to maintaining the accessibility of our services and programs and will keep Zooming so that all continue to be welcome and feel comfortable attending and participating in our Temple gatherings, either in person or remotely.

In-Person Event Guidelines

For health and safety reasons, we are limiting the number of attendees at in-person Temple events. Registration is required for those wishing to attend in person, and no one will be admitted who has not registered in advance. Registration links will be available on the website and in the Shavuon. (Please contact the office if you have trouble registering.) Preference will be given to members of Temple Emanu-El. Please do not sign up unless you definitely plan to attend. Repeated no-shows will be precluded from further sign-ups. Registration is not complete until you have received email confirmation from the temple.

When attending an in-person event, we ask you to comply with the following guidelines so that we are able to continue practicing the mitzvah of pikuach nefesh—saving lives—and taking care of one another:

- Remain masked and physically distanced by household (at least 6 ft apart if talking, at least 12 ft apart if singing).
- All events in the building (including services) will be limited to 50 minutes.
- Do not bring food or drink into the building. We ask that you eat and drink before attending any program, rather than during it.
- While we don't require those attending to be vaccinated, we strongly encourage it.
- Please stay home and care for yourself if you or anyone in your household (a) is feeling unwell, (b) has tested positive for COVID-19 in the past two weeks, or (c) has been in close contact with anyone known to be infected with COVID-19. If you are not going to attend, please let us know so that another person can come.

Events During June

- We will gather for two b'nei mitzvah: Doug Wiggins on June 5 (at 10:00 am) and Zack Hannula on June 26 (at 9:30 am). Both will be hybrid services, with just clergy and the family of our bar mitzvah celebrants present inside the synagogue. The rest of our congregation is warmly invited to join by Zoom.
- On June 12, we will offer a hybrid Rosh Chodesh group at 7:30 pm, followed by a Havdalah service at 8:30 pm, both at Round Pond. Both will also be Zoomed. If you would like to light a Havdalah candle or smell spices, please bring your own materials to celebrate with; we won't pass them around.
- Small study groups, such as Raising Jewish Children and Spirited Aging Together, will (at the discretion of the clergy/leaders) meet outdoors, in person, with either Zoom or Winer Auditorium as the backup in case of bad weather. BYOB: bring your own blanket (or chair)!
- On the afternoon of Saturday, June 19, we will have the opportunity to meet and say farewell to Rabbi Rachel in person, at Round Pond, at 1:00 pm (in lieu of Israel Chavurah).
- Our choir will rehearse together outdoors on June 23, masked and distanced.

Finally, we know that many of you are thinking of the fall. Our goal is to be back in the building for hybrid High Holy Days services and in-person Religious School. But we also know that circumstances can change rapidly, and we need to be ready to adapt to new conditions and adjust our expectations—with patience and with strength, as we have already done so many times in these past fourteen months.

Chazak chazak—may we go from strength to strength. We're looking forward so much to seeing you in person!

L'shalom,
President Loren Goldstein
Cantor Vera Broekhuysen
Rabbi Rachel Putterman
Executive Director Nancy LaFleur

Adam Hannula's Confirmation Project: An Oral History of Stuart Mandell

Having the chance to simply meet Mr. Stuart Mandell is already a fantastic privilege, which is why I am so happy that I was able to do an oral history with him. Mr. Mandell is an active member of the Temple Emanu-El community, attending almost all Saturday morning services, along with being a board member. Everyone at Temple Emanu-El knows and loves Stuart for his outgoing personality and fantastic sense of humor, but very few know about the wild stories Mr. Mandell has to tell about being a child during the Great Depression, fighting in World War II, being a long-standing member at Temple Emanu-El, and so much more.

As part of his confirmation learning, Adam created his own Daf—his own page of Talmud with Mishnah, Gemara (expansion), and commentaries from some of the rabbis in his own life.

Sipurei S'farim (Book Stories)

HaSifriyah, like the rest of our building, has sat dormant for the past fourteen months. As the library committee has worked to catalog new items and otherwise prepare the library for reopening, they've encountered an archive of fascinating Jewish books. This collection includes religious and secular texts in Yiddish and Hebrew from the late 1800s and early 1900s published in the US and across Eastern Europe—some by authors you may recognize.

Starting next month, look out for the new Sipurei S'farim (Book Stories) section in the bulletin, where we'll take a closer look at some of these texts.

Avoid Email Scams (Phishing)

Communications from Temple Emanu-El will always come from an @TempleEmanu-El.org email address. Most—bulletins, Shavuons, bereavement notices, religious school messages—will come through Constant Contact, though some may come directly from individuals at the temple such as Cantor Vera, Rabbi Rachel, or Nancy.

Examine all emails carefully:

- Check for odd sender email addresses.
- Are there spelling and grammar errors?
- Are they asking you to take an unusual action?
- Are there unexpected links or attachments?

If you are unsure about an email:

- Don't click on any links.
- Don't open attachments.
- Don't reply to the sender.
- Contact Nancy (978.373.3861 or Nancy@TempleEmanu-El.org).
- Block the sender, or mark the email as junk.
- Delete the email from your computer.

Never send passwords or personal information via email!

★ TEMPLE EMANU-EL ★

Honor Your Father and Your Mother

It is a widely observed Jewish tradition to commemorate the passing of a loved one by memorializing those that have departed with a yahrzeit plaque on a dedicated memorial wall.

At Temple Emanu-El, these plaques are lit on the yahrzeit, or anniversary of death, and for Yizkor services.

Plaques are inscribed with the name of the deceased in both English and Hebrew as well as the date of the person's death. They are available to view whenever the sanctuary is open.

The one-time cost of the plaque is $300. To purchase a plaque in honor of a departed loved one, contact Nancy or Cantor Vera at 978.373.3861.
